

PROFESSOR PHYSICIAN SAYS, "PEPGEN" IS THE ONLY RELIABLE TONIC, BUT IT HAS HELPED A GREAT MANY OF MY PATIENTS"

Dr. John Adams, 506 East Fifth street, Dayton, O., who was formerly professor of chemistry at the Cincinnati, O., College of Medicine and Surgery, and who has practiced medicine for 42 years, says of Pepgen:

"I tried Pepgen because I was overworked. I needed something to build up my nerves and strengthen my general system. Another doctor recommended that I try Pepgen, which accordingly did. In a short time I could sleep more soundly and I felt stronger in every way."

"I was so pleased with the results obtained from Pepgen that I prescribed it to a number of my patients. In each and every case it did good work. One young man who had been suffering severely with colic caused by fermentation of food, until at times he was almost drawn double, told me that he had not had a single return attack after the second day he began to take Pepgen."

"In my opinion Pepgen is the best general tonic I ever used and I am glad to endorse it."

Pepgen is well advertised. It is true, but such a record-breaking sale as is now being had could not have been brought about by advertising alone. One bottle of Pepgen is sold in a neighborhood through advertising, but 10 more are sold in that community after the first bottle produces results.

Scores of people right here in Memphis who have taken Pepgen personally recommend it and one has but to glance at the statements of his friends and neighbors to note the good that Pepgen is doing.

When digestion is bad the entire system suffers. Getting back into a healthy condition of mind and body can be had in many cases by a tonic treatment. If a tonic treatment is selected it should be a tonic like Pepgen, which has a good influence on the entire digestive tract.

Many tonics stimulate digestion but do not affect the intestinal tract or that portion of the body through which food passes after it leaves the stomach. About three-fourths of digestible food placed after the food leaves the stomach, therefore, the value of Pepgen can be plainly seen when it is known that this new preparation is designed to relieve the entire intestinal tract, as well as the kidneys and the liver. By stimulating these organs to activity it relieves constipation, allows skin, back-aches and "tired feelings" which usually come from disordered conditions of these organs.

Pepgen is valuable as a stomach and intestinal tonic. It relieves misery after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia, gas and bloating. It supplies food for the nerves and encourages healthy, refreshing sleep.

MEMPHIS NURSE GIVES INTERESTING EVIDENCE

Mrs. Mary Robertson Relates Her Experience With the New Remedy, Pepgen—Says Has Personal Proof of Efficiency.

Mrs. Mary Robertson, who resides at 171 N. Second Street, Memphis, has had considerable experience in nursing. She has had two years of training at St. Joseph's Hospital and aside from her work at the institution has had the care of many sick people.

Under the circumstances, a statement that she has made about Pepgen, the much-discussed new remedy, is of particular interest and significance, especially as it has to do with her own personal experience. She says:

"I have had a bad stomach for 20 years. Frequently I had very acute attacks of indigestion.

"My appetite was very poor. At times I would scarcely eat anything. On account of the condition of my stomach, my nerves became upset, and I did not sleep soundly at night.

"I tried many remedies and spent much money in the effort to get relief. Statements regarding Pepgen and what it had done in many cases came to my attention. I read the formula of Pepgen and upon considering its ingredients became of the opinion that it was very likely to be effective in my case. So I went to the Weiss Pharmacy and secured a bottle.

"So far I have taken it only a short time and the relief has been very considerable. My appetite is 100 per cent better and I can eat without any bad after-effects. Only last evening I ate a hearty supper and went to bed and slept fine.

"Pepgen has given me relief from suffering in a way which nothing else has done. I want to recommend Pepgen to anyone who is suffering from disordered condition of the stomach. Pepgen may be obtained from the Weiss Pharmacy, Union and Main Streets, Memphis, or from any other leading retail or wholesale drug store.

TIMBER MAN ENDS HIS LONG SEARCH

Mr. C. E. Wise, Sufferer From Effects of Auto Accident, Gives Statement.

That he is of the firm belief that his long continued efforts to secure an efficient remedy for his case have finally been crowned with success is the assertion of Mr. C. E. Wise, who resides at the Lehigh Hotel. He has been a resident of Memphis for 14 years.

The remedy to which he refers is Pepgen. Mr. Wise's statement follows: "I was in an automobile accident three years ago which almost put me out of business. My stomach has not been in good shape since. It has caused me much trouble. I have suffered from cramps after eating and sometimes the agony was so great that I could not draw almost double. It made no difference how particular I was about what I ate. Everything seemed to have the same effect. My system generally became very much rundown.

"I tried many treatments and remedies, but nothing did me any good to speak of.

"Fortunately, I did not abandon hope of finding a remedy. If I had done that I would have missed trying Pepgen and I would have missed much. Pepgen has certainly made me feel better. The cramping in my stomach is nothing compared to what it was before. I can now eat a real hearty meal and don't have to suffer for it afterward.

"Pepgen has given me great relief in the short time I have been taking it and has almost drawn almost double. I intend to keep right on taking it and firmly believe I will be permanently relieved."

Pepgen may be obtained from the Weiss Pharmacy, Union and Main Streets, Memphis, or from any other leading retail or wholesale drug store.

MEMPHIS BARBER GIVES CHALLENGE FOR FOOT RACE

At Age of 56, White Finds He Has Speed and "Pep" of Youth.

Friends of Mr. A. Miller White of the Subway Barber Shop at 103 Madison Street, Memphis, have been commenting lately on the difference in his appearance and any comment of this sort elicits from Mr. White a pretty powerful line of talk about the new remedy, Pepgen.

Mr. White represents Local 35 in the Trades and Labor Council. He is 56 years old, and resides at 955 Saxon Avenue. His statement follows:

"I was in rundown condition for about two months. My appetite was decidedly poor. My complexion had become sallow and yellowish.

"My stomach appeared to be all out of condition and everything that I ate seemed to disagree with me. I had shooting pains through my legs. I felt so tired and worn out that some days I didn't feel able to stay around on the job until my shop closed.

"That's the shape I was in when I began taking Pepgen. Now I am feeling 20 years younger. Even my friends have noticed how much better I am looking and some want to know what I have been taking. I tell them about Pepgen. My appetite is ravenous now. I can hardly wait for meal time to come as I am so hungry. My complexion is now cleared up fine. My stomach is in fine shape and it doesn't seem that there is anything that disagrees with me. I don't suffer from the shooting pains through my limbs as before.

"Pepgen has certainly put pep in me. It has made me feel like a new man. I feel fit for a foot race. So why shouldn't I sing its praises?"

PURE CASCARA IS A FINE LAXATIVE

Pure cascara is one of the best laxatives known in the medical world. It is a uniform dose requires no special case of constipation.

Senna leaves are another popular home remedy for constipation. But like cascara they will not answer the problem where the ailment is of long standing. To secure quick results cascara and senna should be used in combination. Two small boxes traveling in the same direction will always outpull one horse that weighs as much as both of them.

To mix cascara and senna in exactly the proper proportions to always have like effects requires a chemist's skill, but you can purchase them, already mixed, under the name of "Pepgen Laxative Tablets," at Weiss Pharmacy and other leading druggists.

Pepgen Laxative Tablets are especially suitable for nursing mothers, for people with delicate stomachs and for children where great care must be exercised in selecting a laxative.

They are pleasant to take. Eat them like candy. One tablet should be taken at night and morning, gradually decreasing their use as the actions of the bowels become normal.

When constipated it is a good idea to take Pepgen Laxative Tablets at the same time you take Pepgen Tonic. The Laxative Tablets keep the bowels open while the tonic acts as a strength builder.

TWO LINDEN AVE. WOMEN JOIN IN PRAISING PEPGEN

Mrs. McCutchan and Her Daughter, Mrs. W. E. Morgan, Give Statements.

Mrs. Nancy McCutchan and Mrs. W. E. Morgan are mother and daughter who have been residents of Memphis a comparatively short time.

Mrs. Morgan's husband came here to assume management of the American District Telegraph Co. in this city. They live at 547 Linden Ave. Mrs. McCutchan makes her home with the Morgans.

Both have personally experienced the benefits of Pepgen, and their statements reflect the enthusiasm that they feel about this remedy. Mrs. McCutchan says:

"I had been bothered with disorder of the kidneys for several years. My kidneys and liver were very sluggish. There was no regularity of action.

"My appetite was poor and food did not taste right to me. I was always tired. In fact, I had very little energy. For several weeks prior to getting Pepgen I was in especially weak and run-down condition.

"The improvement Pepgen has made in my condition is great. My appetite is doubled. I really feel ten years younger.

"I can certainly recommend Pepgen as a wonderful tonic. It really builds up the system very quickly."

Mrs. Morgan says:

"My system had been in run-down condition. My blood was thin. The sudden change of climate from New York to Memphis affected me.

"My appetite was weak. I had no life about me in doing my housework. I just dragged around. It seemed as if the day would never end. I would become chilled very easily.

"I can surely see a big difference since I have been taking Pepgen. My appetite has increased wonderfully. My housework is now a pleasure instead of a torture. My blood has evidently become richer and I don't chill like I used to.

"I am very grateful for the quick relief I secured from Pepgen, and I believe the remedy deserves my hearty recommendation."

Pepgen may be obtained from the Weiss Pharmacy, Union and Main Streets, Memphis, or from any other leading retail or wholesale drug store.

AMUSEMENTS

Orpheum.

One can spend a most pleasant afternoon or night at the Orpheum this week. The new bill which opened Monday afternoon is to be classed with the best offered here this season. Of a varied complexion, studded with scintillating acts, it would take a microscope to discover a flaw in the series of attractions.

The very fine hand of James Hartley Manners is seen in "The Woman Intervenes" in which Florence Roberts is shown in the very exceptional talent displayed by Miss Roberts to make the playlet get across in such a reader who enjoys the line of the Manners' sketch just enough life, she has a refreshing style and voice and a personality exactly suited for the interpretation of Val, the woman who intervenes. Supporting Miss Roberts are three men well trained for their respective parts. The theme of "The Woman Intervenes" is possibly a bit trite but catchy lines and tense situations cover any defect as to plot. By far the best gymnastic act ever housed for local vaudeville patrons is that offered by the four Readings. They style themselves jugglers of human beings and indeed they are. Every stunt is one that would be an achievement for an ordinary turn of this character. There is no dressing up of the act and snappiness is the word from the first curtain. The leap from a handstand down a chute and across the stage which closed is a thriller that held every one of Monday night's audience a tribute to any dumb act. If the Readings' names are not the electric lights out front they should be so featured.

Sylvia Jason and William Haig do a series of particularly pleasing numbers. They sing well, dance still better, while their act is one that well can be placed in the same category as themselves, cute. They are exceptionally hard workers and apparently enjoy the 20 minutes devoted to their act. Though Lester's ventriloquist act is somewhat extended there is not a dull moment while this man occupies the stage.

Two fellows whose conception of the Southern negro is not only cleverly arrived at but wholesomely entertaining are Avee and O'Neil. They shuffle around in soft shoe steps that are new, about several common songs in a fashion and wiles through a dialogue that is a scream. The craps game is splendid help.

Burns and Frabito grabbed their audience at the outset last night and left those in front called for more when they quit. Italian chatter predominates but the team injects enough music, together with a ballad song that makes the two deserving of worthy mention. A little more strumming on the guitars would help.

Noxville hat throwing evidently is regarded by the Gardinelli brothers as their ace of entertainment. They shouldn't. The slender chap on the trampoline board. He's every bit as good as Stan Stanley. Once more the most excellent orchestra is very much in evidence. Director Kahn in addition to capable leading a group of musicians has some splendid ideas in choosing selections for a program.

Shows like S. R. O. all week at this playhouse. AL WILLSON.

New Lyric.

Emma Bunting, with all her charms reduplicated, all her little mannerisms accentuated, all her original methods of winning and keeping an audience developed into the real legitimate star, captivated herself again into the very heart of hearts of a crowd tonight at the New Lyric theater Monday night in "Scandal," her newest play, and again enraptured herself on the little throne she regally occupied for more than three seasons in Memphis.

"Scandal" is a delightful comedy from the pen of Cosmo Hamilton, and deals with the everlasting antagonism of love between sexes, deals with two big loves, surrounded by conventionalities, frivolity, and ends with the final capitulation of the woman, but not until she has brought to her knees a man who has braved the dangers of the jungle and terrors of the sea unmoved.

Henry Woodruff as Pelham Franklin, the part opposite the Beatrice Vanderdyke of Miss Bunting, is a splendid actor. No better leading man has been seen here this season.

"If we were alone on a desert island, I'd build a hut at the farthest end and treat you as a man," this is what he said at the climax of the second act. Substitute "woman" for "man" in this pronouncement and you have the plot. How the substitution is brought about tells the story of the play, as unfolded by these two actors, Emma and Henry Woodruff. All other characters in the play are distinctly subordinate, although, for the most part, in capable hands.

Emma will hold another levee at the matinee Tuesday. All old admirers, from lady girls who henna their hair to look like Emma, to society and soda room devotees; from canny gloved men to canvas covered or callous handed toilers, alike will do her tribute; then again at the night performance, concluding the engagement.

"Scandal" is worth while. It is a study in sex antagonism. A revelation daringly brought out by a student of masochism. In it Miss Bunting apparently has reached the climax of her histrionic career. Long may she smile, long may she show her teeth, long may she wiggle; long may she reign in hearts of theater-goers everywhere and have a "home-coming" whenever she goes.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 4. (By the Associated Press)—Leaders of Russia's soviet government have banned the giving of Christian names to children, it is reported, because they are considered "remnants of the reactionary system."
